

PHOTO BY G. H. B.

PETER D. YEAGER

Peter D. Yeager died at the following place by affording home of his daughter, Mrs. Gartin abundance of mountain trout

[illegible]

Based also by visiting an amount of mountain trout, a Traveler: H. was the sports man's paradise

The "shulky, slim and kind, genial face of 'Uncle Peter' will be recalled by many of them, scattered throughout the state, and they will hear of his death with sorrow.

Fifty years ago, in the days of the old Trotter hack line from Stanton to Beverly, the Yeager home was one of the inlays, and it was the Yeagers, Arbogasts and Burgers who then owned the dense forests of pine and oak out of which strangers have made their millions, and speculators have gone mad.

The passing away of these old men leaves little to remind one of former times, for the greed of this century is rapidly and completely transforming this virgin valley.

While the change brought wealth to this typical old mountaineer, the new order did not change his nature nor enhance his happiness, and it is a reasonable claim that in the evening of his life, drowsy with the last long sleep, he called to mind the twilight of former years, when he was lulled to rest by the song of the whippoorwill, the rippling waters and the murmuring of his native pines.

Warden (Charles F. Hinkle) of the West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville, has made his report to Governor Dawson for months of November and December, as follows:

State prisoners	1,000
U. S. prisoners	1,000
Total	2,000

State prisoners, expiration of sentence	1,000
Parole	1,000
Conditional pardon	1,000
U. S. prisoners, expiration of sentence	1,000
Total	4,000

Next Steps:

Two wrecks are reported Greenbrier Division this week. The first one occurred last evening at mile post 15 in Anthony. Two or three of the west bound freight train derailed and the passengers the next day were compelled to transfer, causing a delay of several hours.

Wednesday afternoon five cars on the east through freight were derailed on the Improvement Lick, six miles west of Marlinton. Nearly an hour was spent by the wrecking crew in getting the track clear. All passenger trains were compelled to transfer. In both wrecks were caused by spreading due to the relaxation of the ties.

An Adamless Eden in Texas is the dream of Mary F. Hayden, a well known Chicago novelist, who is arranging to establish a colony of a thousand women in Rusk county, Tex., on the line of the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railway. She has acquired title to 5,000 acres, and is now at work on the plans for her new and unique colony.

She will permit her women colonists to have husbands if that condition cannot be avoided, but they will have no part in affairs of the colony. She will endeavor to obtain from the Texas legislature permission for women to obtained he built a new house. In a few years he became one of the most prosperous farmers in the county. In the year 1857 he married Margaret Bible, a daughter of Jacob and Sallie Bible. She preceded her husband to the grave by about four years. To Mr. and Mrs. Yeager there were born six children, two sons and four daughters—Mrs. Harper McLaughlin, of Bath county, Va.; Mrs. C. E. Pritchard, of Danmore; Mrs. Henry Fleener, deceased; Mrs. Dyer Gunn and Willie J. Yeager, of Bartow; and Charles A. Yeager, of Marlinton.

Mr. Yeager was a lifelong and consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and was one of the most respected citizens of the county. His word was as good as his bond and one of our citizens, who has had extensive business relations with him, stated that he never required any written contracts or agreements when dealing with the gentleman. Nothing that we could say would add to the encomium of the deceased as the news of his death telegraphed to the Richmond Times Dispatch from Monterey on the day of his death which we here append.

The death of Peter D. Yeager, which occurred this morning at his old home near the line of the two Virginias, removes a veritable landmark of the Alleghenies. He was an octogenarian, and his long life was spent near the place where he died—the valley of the Greenbrier.

He was long known as the proprietor of Travelers' Repose, a popular health resort and favorite resort of the community, far and near. Over his construction of the latter, the new order did not change his nature for a moment. He was a man of a noble and noble heart, and it is a sad thing to learn that in the closing of his life slowly with the last long sleep, he called to mind the last light of former years, when he was lulled to rest by the song of the whippoorwill, the rippling waters and the murmuring of his native pines.

Eden Misses Eden:

An Adamless Eden in Texas is the dream of Mary F. Hayden, a well known Chicago novelist, who is arranging to establish a colony of a thousand women in Rock county, Tex., on the line of the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railway. She has acquired title to 5,000 acres, and is now at work on the plans for her new and unique colony.

She will permit her women colonists to have husbands if that condition cannot be avoided, but they will have no part in affairs of the colony. She will endeavor to obtain from the Texas legislature permission for women to exercise the right of suffrage in her colony, and all homes must be in the name of the wife.

Every thing that is usually undertaken on Texas farms will be attempted in this Adamless colony, the farming, fruit raising, bee keeping, dairying, poultry raising, and other kindred farm and ranch pursuits.

Dies Boasting of Good Health.

Having just remarked to friends that he had never felt better since he left the river on which he ran for years as a steamboat steward, Edward Stoller, aged 73, fell dead of heart trouble at Leavenworth, Mo., November 27. He had just taken a walk after a cold and a fever.

Two weeks ago... The first... evening at... Anthony... the worst... detailed and... the next day... traveler, can... eral hours... Wednesday... five came on... through fr... Improvement... of Marlinton... was spent by... in getting the... passenger train... pelled to trans... the wrecks w... spreading de... dition of the...

Two weeks ago... The first... evening at... Anthony... the worst... detailed and... the next day... traveler, can... eral hours... Wednesday... five came on... through fr... Improvement... of Marlinton... was spent by... in getting the... passenger train... pelled to trans... the wrecks w... spreading de... dition of the...

At Sand... Justice Garle... lieved of the... the relative... ing turkeys... when James... dealer, pleads... assault charge... Father Nort...

Mrs. Nor... claimed that... some of his... her ch... have her... kind... The... 11...

that prosperous farmers in the county. In the year 1857 he married Margaret Bible, a daughter of Jacob and Sallie Bible. She preceded her husband to the grave by about four years. To Mr. and Mrs. Yeager there were born six children, two sons and four daughters—Mrs. Harper McLaughlin, of Bath county, Va.; Mrs. C. E. Pritchard, of Dunmore; Mrs. Henry Fleener, deceased; Mrs. Dyer Gum and Willie J. Yeager, of Bartow; and Charles A. Yeager, of Marlinton.

Mr. Yeager was a lifelong and consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and was one of the most respected citizens of the county. His word was as good as his bond and one of our citizens, who has had extensive business relations with him, stated that he never required any written contracts or agreements when dealing with the gentleman. Nothing that we could say would add to the encomium of the deceased as the news of his death telegraphed to the Richmond Times-Dispatch from Monterrey on the day of his death which we here append.

The death of Peter D. Yeager, which occurred this morning at his old home near the line of the two Virginias, removes a veritable landmark of the Alleghanias. He was an octogenarian, and his long life was spent near the place where he died—the valley of the Greenbrier.

He was long known as the proprietor of Tyrolers' Repose, a popular health and favorite resort of sportsmen, far and near, prior to the construction of the Chesapeake and Ohio—the Greenbrier valley, through which the river flows, was an his happy home. A few years ago he claimed that in the morning of his life, drawn with the last breath, he called to mind the light of former years when he was lulled to rest by the song of the whippoorwill, the rippling waters and the murmuring of his native pines.

Edna Mavor Eden:

An Adamless Eden in Texas is the dream of Mary P. Hayden, a well known Chicago novelist, who is arranging to establish a colony of a thousand women in Bexar county, Tex., on the line of the San Antonio and Arkansas Texas railway. She has acquired title to 5,000 acres, and is now at work on the plans for her new and unique colony.

She will permit her women colonists to have husbands if that condition cannot be avoided, but they will have no part in affairs of the colony. She will endeavor to obtain from the Texas legislature permission for women to exercise the right of suffrage in her colony, and all homes must be in the name of the wife.

Every thing that is usually undertaken on Texas farms will be attempted in this Adamless colony, such as farming, fruit raising, bee keeping, dairying, poultry raising, and other kindred farm and ranch pursuits.

Disseminating of Good Health.

Having just remarked to friends that he had never felt better since he left the river on which he ran for years as a steamboat steward, Edward Stollen, aged 73, fell dead of heart trouble at Louisville, Ky., November 27. He had just taken a glass of beer and had started toward the door, when he

The first...
Anthony...
the...
detailed...
the...
travels...
eral...
Well... five...
through...
Improvement... of...
was... in...
passenger...
pelled...
two...
spreading...
dition...
of...
the...

At Sand...
Justice...
lied...
the...
ing...
when...
dealer...
sauf...
Father...
Mrs. N... claimed...
f... let...
g...
the...
the...
We...

... and all ...
 ... Not a fence was ...
 ... on the place and he ...
 ... that the situation almost ...
 ... him for as though he would ...
 ... give up. Seeing a bright ...
 ... ahead of him he began life ...
 ... lumber was hard to get ...
 ... bought an old house at ...
 ... and moved it to his ...
 ... here from the lumber that ...
 ... he built a new house. In ...
 ... he became one of the ...
 ... prosperous farmers in the ...
 ... In the year 1857 he ...
 ... Margaret Bible, a daughter ...
 ... of Sallie Bible. She ...
 ... her husband, to the ...
 ... about four years. To ...
 ... Mrs Yeager there were ...
 ... children, two sons and ...
 ... daughters—Mrs. Harper Mc ...
 ... of Bath county, Va; ...
 ... Pritchard; of Dunmore; ...
 ... Flenner, deceased; ...
 ... Gum and Willie J. ...
 ... Bartow; and Charles ...
 ... of Marlinton

... was a lifelong and ...
 ... member of the Metho ...
 ... pal Church, South ...
 ... of the most respect ...
 ... of the county. His ...
 ... good as his bond and ...
 ... izens, who has had ...
 ... iness relations with ...
 ... at he never requir ...
 ... n contracts or agree ...
 ... dealing with the ...
 ... thing that we could ...
 ... to the eucommun ...
 ... sed as the news ...
 ... telegraphed to ...
 ... Times Dispatch ...
 ... on the day of his ...
 ... here append.

... Peter D. Yeager, ...
 ... this morning at ...
 ... the line of the ...
 ... a verit ...
 ... Allgh n ...

... their millions and speculators ...
 ... have gone mad ...
 ... The passing away of these old ...
 ... men leaves little to remind one ...
 ... of former times, for the great ...
 ... of the country is rapidly and com ...
 ... pletely transforming this virgin ...
 ... valley.

While the change brought ...
 ... wealth to this typical old moun ...
 ... tainee, the new order did not ...
 ... change his nature nor enhance ...
 ... his happiness, and it is a reason ...
 ... able claim that in the evening of ...
 ... his life, drowsy with the last long ...
 ... sleep, he called to mind the twi ...
 ... light of former years, when he ...
 ... was lulled to rest by the song of ...
 ... the whippoorwill, the rippling ...
 ... waters and the murmuring of his ...
 ... native pines.

Eden Misses Adam:

An Adamless Eden in Texas is ...
 ... the dream of Mary F. Bayden, a ...
 ... well known Chicago novelist, who ...
 ... is arranging to establish a colony ...
 ... of a thousand women in Refue ...
 ... county, Tex. on the line of the ...
 ... San Antonio and Arkansas Pass ...
 ... railway. She has acquired title ...
 ... to 5,000 acres, and is now at work ...
 ... on the plans for her new and ...
 ... unique colony.

She will permit her women col ...
 ... onists to have husbands if that ...
 ... condition cannot be avoided, but ...
 ... they will have no part in affairs ...
 ... of the colony. She will endeavor ...
 ... to obtain from the Texas legis ...
 ... lature permission for women to ...
 ... exercise the right of suffrage in ...
 ... her colony, and all homes must ...
 ... be in the power of the wife.

Every ... that is usually un ...
 ... dertaken on Texas farms will be ...
 ... attempted in this Adamless col ...
 ... ony, the farming, fruit raising, ...
 ... bee keeping, dairying, poultry ...
 ... raising, and other kindred farm ...
 ... and ranch pursuits

... Dress Making of Good Health ...
 ... viding ... led to friend ...

State prisoners	...
U. S. prisoners	...
Total	...
State prisoners, expiration of sentence	...
Parole	...
Conditional pardon	...
U. S. prisoners, expiration of sentence	...
Total	...
Net increase	...
Prison population November 1	1,220
population December 1	1,245

More Wrecks.

Two wrecks are reported on the ...
 ... Greenbrier Division this week ...
 ... The first one occurred Monday ...
 ... evening at mile post 15 just above ...
 ... Anthony. Two or three cars on ...
 ... the west bound freight train were ...
 ... derailed and the passenger trains ...
 ... the next day were compelled to ...
 ... transfer, causing a delay of sev ...
 ... eral hours.

Wednesday afternoon four or ...
 ... five cars on the east bound ...
 ... through freight were derailed at ...
 ... Improvement Lick, six miles west ...
 ... of Marlinton. Nearly all night ...
 ... was spent by the wrecking crew ...
 ... in getting the track cleared. The ...
 ... passenger trains were again com ...
 ... pelled to transfer. In both cases ...
 ... the wrecks were caused by rails ...
 ... spreading due to the rotten con ...
 ... dition of the ties.

Gave Kisses for Good Measures.

At Sandusky, Ohio, recently, ...
 ... Justice Garley, of Milan, was re ...
 ... lieved of the puzzling question of ...
 ... the relative value of thank giv ...
 ... ing turkeys, chickens and ...
 ... when James Dabell, a ...
 ... dealer, pleaded guilty to an as ...
 ... sault charge, preferred by ...
 ... Luther Norton, a ...
 ... M ...

.....

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

2. Next, it is important to gather relevant information and data. This can be done through research, consultation with experts, or by analyzing existing data sets.

3. Once the information is gathered, the next step is to analyze it. This involves identifying patterns, trends, and relationships that can help in understanding the problem more deeply.

4. After analysis, the next step is to develop a solution or answer. This often involves creative thinking and the application of knowledge and skills to the problem at hand.

5. Finally, the solution must be tested and evaluated. This involves checking the results against the original problem and requirements to ensure that the solution is effective and meets the needs of the task.

and he bought an old house at Greenbank and moved it to his place where from the lumber thus obtained he built a new house. In a few years he became one of the most prosperous farmers in the county. In the year 1857 he married Margaret Bible, a daughter of Jacob and Sallie Bible. She preceded her husband, to the grave by about four years. To Mr. and Mrs. Yeager there were born six children, two sons and four daughters—Mrs. Harper McLaughlin, of Bath county, Va.; Mrs. C. E. Pritchard, of Dunmore; Mrs. Henry Flenner, deceased; Mrs. Dyer Gum and Willie J. Yeager, of Bartow; and Charles A. Yeager, of Marlinton.

Mr. Yeager was a lifelong and consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and was one of the most respected citizens of the county. His word was as good as his bond and one of our citizens, who has had extensive business relations with him, stated that he never required any written contracts or agreements when dealing with the gentleman. Nothing that we could say would add to the encomium of the deceased, as the news of his death telegraphed to the Richmond Times-Dispatch from Monterey on the day of his death which we here append.

The death of Peter D. Yeager, which occurred this morning at his old home near the line of the two Virginias, removes a veritable landmark of the Alleghenies

While the change brought wealth to this typical old mountaineer, the new order did not change his nature nor enhance his happiness, and it is a reasonable claim that in the evening of his life, drowsy with the last long sleep, he called to mind the twilight of former years, when he was lulled to rest by the song of the whippoorwill, the rippling waters and the murmuring of his native pines.

Eden Minus Adam:

An Adamless Eden in Texas is the dream of Mary F. Hayden, a well known Chicago novelist, who is arranging to establish a colony of a thousand women in Refugio county, Tex., on the line of the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railway. She has acquired title to 5,000 acres, and is now at work on the plans for her new and unique colony.

She will permit her women colonists to have husbands if that condition cannot be avoided, but they will have no part in affairs of the colony. She will endeavor to obtain from the Texas legislature permission for women to exercise the right of suffrage in her colony, and all homes must be in the name of the wife.

Every thing that is usually undertaken on Texas farms will be attempted in this Adamless colony, to wit: farming, fruit raising, bee keeping, dairying, poultry raising, and other kindred farm

Parole	1,220
Conditional pardon	1,215
U. S. prisoners, expiration of sentence
Total
Net increase
Prison population November	1,220
Prison population December	1,215

More Wrecks.

Two wrecks are reported Greenbrier Division this week. The first one occurred last evening at mile post 153 near Anthony. Two or three of the west bound freight trains derailed and the passenger trains the next day were delayed for several hours.

Wednesday afternoon five cars on the through freight west of Improvement Lick, of Marlinton. No work was spent by the division in getting the track straightened, and the passenger trains were compelled to transfer to the other side of the track. The wrecks were spreading due to the condition of the ties.

Gave Kisses

At Sandusky, Justice Garley believed of the relative value of the turkey, and word was as good as his bond and one of our citizens, who has had extensive business relations with him, stated that he never required any written contracts or agreements when dealing with the gentleman. Nothing that we could say would add to the encomium of the deceased as the news of his death telegraphed to the Richmond Times-Dispatch from Monterey on the day of his death which we here append.

The death of Peter D. Yeager, which occurred this morning at his old home near the line of the two Virginias, removes a veritable landmark of the Alleghenies. He was an octogenarian, and his long life was spent near the place where he died—the valley of the Greenbrier.

He was long known as the proprietor of Travelers' Repose, a popular hotel and favorite resort of sportsmen, far and near. Prior to the construction of the Chesapeake and Ohio—the Greenbrier branch—the valley in which his home was located was an almost unbroken forest, the two ends of the Greenbrier, which to 5,000 acres, and is now at work on the plans for her new and unique colony.

She will permit her women colonists to have husbands if that condition cannot be avoided, but they will have no part in affairs of the colony. She will endeavor to obtain from the Texas legislature permission for women to exercise the right of suffrage in her colony, and all homes must be in the name of the wife.

Every thing that is usually undertaken on Texas farms will be attempted on this Adamless colony, tree farming, fruit raising, bee keeping, dairying, poultry raising, and other kindred farm and ranch pursuits.

Dies Boasting of Good Health.

Having just remarked to friends that he had never felt better since he left the river on which he ran for years as a steamboat steward, Edward Stoller, aged 73, fell dead of heart trouble at Louisville, Ky., November 27. He had just taken a glass of beer and had started toward the door, when he collapsed with pain and fell.